The popular actress, Madalaine Price, one of the stellar lights of the Southers-Price Theater Compony, has taken Dr. Edison's Obesity Treatment, and is glad of it. Reed below what she says of her experience with Dr. Edison's remedies:

ATLANTA, Ga., April 2, 1897.

Loring & Co., Chicago.

Gentlemen: I cannot speak in too high terms of Dr. Edison's Obesity Pilis and Obesity Sait and Compound. When I began taking Dr. Edison's Otsity Treatment my weight was 198. I had alrendy used another much advertised treatment, and as soon as I stopped it had fleshened up again, and it left my stomach in a very weak condition. I took Dr. Edison's Obesity Pilis and Sait, and was reduced from 198 to 140 without any bad effects upon my system. These remedies soon cured the condition of my stomach, caused as above stated. Since taking your remedies I book better and feel better than for years, and have no tendency to again get fat. My professional friends should use Dr. Edison's remedies if inclined to get too fleshy, and all of them who have used them on my recommendation have been greatly benefited by them. My husband, Mr. Edwin Southers, Johns me in thanking you for what your treatment has done for me. I will reply to inquiries about this treatment that may be sent to me in care of the "New York Clipper." Yours sincerely.

SENATOR MITCHELL'S ADDRESS

Those Who Received Degrees and Who Won Prizes.

A DISTINGUISHED AUDIENCE

The National Theater never presented a more beautiful spectacle than it did last evening on the occasion of the seventysixth annual commencement of the Columbian College and the thirteenth annua commencement of the Corcoran Scientific School. The auditorium was gay and bright with flags, foliage and flowers and was crowded with a distinguished assemblage of the youth, beauty and brains of the national capital. Lavish were the decerations and floral offerings and most artistic was their arrangement. The stage was a perfect floral bower. Cut flowers in various devices were banked high along the footlights, and they were set off along the wings and in the background by a profusion of tropical and other plants of heavy foliage. An immense American flag occupied the place of honor at the apex of the proscenium arch and just below hung a large floral shield, made of blue and orange flowers, with the letters and figures "C. U., 1897," prominently disptayed in white flow-ers. The college colors—blue and orange were the predominating decoration of the box fronts and the balconies, and the na-tional colors were displayed at every point of vantage.

A Large and Distinguished Audience. If the attendance is a safe criterion, the Columbian University is unquestionably one of the most popular educational institutions in the District. The theater was packed from pit to dome and the elegant toilets of the ladies added greatly to the beauty of the scene. The members of the Chinese embassy occupied one of the boxes, and Mr. Gana, the Chilean minister, and his suite occupied another. A male college faternity—Theta Delta Chi—filled one of the upper boxes, and a female college society-Pi Beta Phi-had possession of the one on the opposite side of the stage. The male society made itself conspicuous by frequent repetitions of the college yell, in the rendition of which they were aided by the students scattered throughout the au-dience. This "yell" had a melancholy horn accompaniment which was particularly ef-fective and was used in greeting and applauding the speakers, the popular members of the faculty and the students who took part in the exercises.

All the members of the faculty and the candidates for degrees and the prize students, male and female, were attired in the university garb of cap and gown, and made quite a picturesque appearance as they marched upon the stage in the solemn dignity of their collegiate honor.

Among those occupying seats on the stage, in addition to the officers of the evening and the faculty, were Rev. Dr. Shandelle and Rev. Dr. Brucker of George-town University; Brothers Fabrician and town University; Brothers Fabrician and Felix of St. John's College; Prof. A. G. Wilkinson, Prof. H. Schoenfeld, Prof. H. L. Hodgkins, Prof. C. C. Swisner, Dr. C. W. Richardson, Mr. C. W. Needham, Mr. Jesse H. Wilson, Mr. Jas. E. Fitch, Mr. B. T. Janney, Prof. Henry King, Rev. Dr. Domer, Prof. Sidwell, Dr. E. A. de Schweinitz, Prof. A. F. Craven, Prof. Cleveland Abbe, Dr. L. O. Howard, Dr. Chatard, Dr. Frank Sewall, Mr. J. O. Wilson, Rev. W. S. O. Thomas, Prof. A. J. Huntingten, Prof. J. H. Gore, Prof. L. D. Lodge, Rev. Dr. J. McB. Sterrett, Prof. E. B. Pollard, Prof. M. M. Ramsey, Prof. W. A. Wilber, Prof. O. C. Mason, Major J. W. Poweil, Rev. H. W. Ennis,

The order of exercises was most interesting. While the audience was assembling Haley's excellent concert band played Tittle's everture, "King's Lieutenants and Thatcher Clark's dedicatory march "The Columbian University March. "The Columbian University March." Equally appropriate airs interspersed the regular exercises.

Rev. Dr. Charles A. Stakely made the opening prayer, and Mr. William Frederick Blehl gave an eloquent salutatory, after which Senator John L. Mitchell of Wisconsin made an address to the graduates Senator Mitchell's Address.

In opening Senator Mitchell said he proposed to address himself particularly to the graduates, and he hoped the audience would bear with him on that account. He greeted them as heroes and heroines, and impressed upon them the great responsibilities of the life's struggle upon which they were about to enter. He would not tell them the old story about the profes-sions being overstocked; nor would he tell them there was plenty of room at the top, for although that might be the case, he had never been there and consequently he didn't know whether it was true or not. He reminded them that while learning sometimes lifted a person up on the way's of theory, it generally landed him on the terra firma of common sense. In the past they had been dealing with the stored-up thought of manhood. In the future they thought of manhood. In the future they would have to deal with man hinself, and they would find it a different condition. They would learn much from contact with men of the world and by communion with nature. Travel was an excellent educator. nature. Travel was an excellent educator. There was beautiful scenery in this grand country, he said, and it had some interesting ruins, like the Chicago post office, for instance, but such travel was not sufficient. They should go abroad and study mankind and nature among the older nations of the earth. It would broak in their vision and liberalize their ideas, and at the same time make them love their own country and its institutions all the more. Senator Mitchell said that, while he was an American by birth and Scotch by ancestry, he had passed his student days (during which time he rarely studied) in Switzerland, the land of lakes, mountains and cuckoo clocks. The Swiss had taken a post-graduate course in liberty and and cuckoo clocks. The Swiss had taken a post-graduate course in liberty and patriotism, and had given them as a heritage to the world at large. The land was idealized in song and story, and was one of the most beautiful places on earth. He gave a history of the Swiss republic, describing its government, scenery and institutions in eloquent terms, and drew from the history of that country an in-spiring lesson for the graduates. In clos-ing he said that, while confinement in the class room tended to dry up their minds, they would find that travel and contact with their fellow men would brighten and broaden their minds.

This address was followed by the preentation of prizes, Prof. A. P. Montague acting for the college and Prof. C. E. Munroe for the scientific school. The degrees were presented by Dr. Whitman, president of the university, and an exceedingly clever valedictory was delivered by Mr. Edmund Kemper Broadus. The exercises closed with the rendition of Haley's "The Ameri-can Beauty," by Haley's Band.

The prizes were distributed as follows: The college-Elton prize in Greek, Mary Isabel Kelly; Staughton prize in Latin, Mary Isabel Kelly; Ruggles prize in mathematics, Clara Mary Upton; the James Macbride Sterrett, jr., prize in physics, given by the class of '96, Anna Campbell Kelton; the first Davis prize in elocution, Charles Kilbourne Robinson; the second Davis prize in elocution, Edmund Kemper

DINNER BY W. W. ASTOR.

Brilliant Entertainment at Which the Elite of London Were Present. William Waldorf Astor gave his second reception at his home in Carlton House Terrace last evening. It was preceded by a dinner party, at which forty guests were present, including Prince Alexander of Teck, Ambassador Hay, Mrs. Hay and Miss Hay. The mansion, which even before it became Mr. Astor's residence was counted among the most elegant private mansions in England, has been entirely renovated. The rooms have been exquisitely paneled and enriched with fine carving. The grand staircase has been lavishly gilded and adorned with beautiful frescoes. The dining room is a remarkable specimen of the decorator's art, and is hung with magnifi-

The reception was one of the most bril-liant given in London in recent years. Among those present were the Grand Duke and Grand Duchess Michael of Rus-sia, Earl Cadogan, the lord lieutenant of Ireland and a host of English dukes, earls and counts, with their duchesses and coun-tesses, Lord Mayor Faudel Phillips and the lady mayoress, and scores of members of the diplomatic corps.

Among the striking toilets were those worn by the Countess of Essex, Lady William Vernon Harcourt, Mrs. Ronalds, Mrs. Bradley Martin and Miss Leiter.

The display of jewels was simply prodigal and the house was a mass of flowers.

Alvan G. Clark was born in Fall River, July 10, 1832. After a grammar school education he became associated with his father, Alvan Clark, in the firm of Alvan Clark & Sons. The elder Clark was the first American to make large achromatic lenses. As a member of the firm the so successfully completed many famous lenses, among which are the Chicago refractor, the 26-inch lens in the Naval Observatory at Washington, and the 30-inch refractor for the Imperial Observatory at St. Petersburg, for which the honorary medal of Russia was awarded, the only one ever conferred on an American. During 1886 the 36-inch refractor, then the largest in the world, was made for the Lick servatory. The lens for the Yerkes telescope is the largest in the world.

Mr. Clark accompanied the total eclipse expedition to Spain in 1870, and also the expedition to Wyoming in 1878. As an observer he discovered fourteen intricate double stars, including the companion to Sirius, for which the Lelande gold medal was awarded to him by the French Acad-emy of Sciences in 1862.

TRAIN BLOWN UP.

Insurgents Use Dynamite on a Rail road Train in Cuba.

The passenger train which leaves Ha vana for Matanzas daily at 6 a.m. was dynamited yesterday morning about twelve miles from the city by a party of insurgents. According to the official account the object was plunder, as about $6,000 was in the express car.

The officials had ordered the passenger train to go ahead, and a pilot engine to follow. At a bend in the line a terrible exposion completely wrecked the passenger engine, which fell into a pit twenty-nine feet below, dragging three third-class cabs after it. At the same moment another ter-rific explosion wrecked the pilot engine, which came to the rescue, and it fell into Both engineers, one fireman, one conduc tor and seven soldiers were killed and three passengers were severely injured, while thirty-two suffered more or less serious bruises. Similtaneously with the explosion the insurgents opened fire on the train, seriously wounding a captain.

The two trains were dynamited with electric machines and bombs placed on a culvert at the curve. The body of an insurgent was found lying near the wire communicating with the bombs. It is supposed that he was killed by the shock. The military escort of the train quickly recovered and opened fire upon the insurgents, who had advanced toward the cars, and drove them off.

THE STAR TROPHY RETAINED

Central ..... Eastern ......

For the second time the Central High School wins The Evening Star trophy, signifying the scholastic athletic championship of the District. The next time it wins the trophy becomes its property.

The events, which came off yesterday afternoon on the Georgetown College campus, were closely contested, and although the Central boys won first place in eleven of the twelve events, they were pushed every time for the honors, and although the score looks as if the races and field the score looks as if the races and field sports were one-sided, the spectators in nearly every instance saw close contests and exciting finishes. The Central School's superiority lay in the fact that it has a larger number of boys from among whom to pick, that they have been more faithful in their training and have followed closely the advice of Trainer Foley of Georgetcwn College, who has had the boys under his charge for the last two seaunder his charge for the last two sea-sons. The few Western representatives trained with the Central boys, and the Eastern School athletes were instructed by Instructor Crossley of the Columbia Athletic Club on the club field.

The management of the meet was intrusted to a committee representing the four schools, and was as follows: Hyder B. Farrow, chairman; Artley Parson, secretary; A. E. Berry, A. Smith, B. Amiss, C. A. Taussig, G. Weaver and E. B. Williams

Previous Records Beaten.

Although the conditions of the track were against fast time, nearly all of the records of last year's meet were equaled or lowered. In the 100-yard run, Farrow covered the distance in 10 4-5 seconds, while it took Jolley, the winner last year, 11 1-5.

The time for the 220-yard run remains the same, 24 4-5 seconds. Farrow, who established the record in the broad jump last tablished the record jumps, beat his record by year at 18 feet 9 inches, beat his record by nearly two feet, the record now standing 21 feet one-half inch.

Curtiss beat his own record for the pole vault by one foot and three inches. His record was 8 feet 6 inches. It is now 9 feet 9 inches feet 9 inches.

The time for the mile run was lowered from 5.19 to 5.08 by Stuart.

The time for the bicycle race was slower than last year, due to the soft track.

If it had not been for the bas condition of the track nearly all of the records would have been lowered, as the boys were in excellent condition, and have given good exhibitions in invitation meets which they have entered, and in their practice.

A good many of the boys of the Central A good many of the boys of the Central are entered for the games of the Columbia Athletic Club Saturday, and will be heard from when the winners are announced.
